ABOUT

Eric Gibbs founded Gibbs Group Commercial Real Estate in 2024, specializing in commercial real estate throughout the Shreveport-Bossier City market. His experience in real estate began as an investor and grew into building his own portfolio of commercial properties, ultimately leading him to become a licensed real estate professional. A Shreveport-Bossier native, Eric earned a Bachelor of Science in Finance from Louisiana Tech University and a Master of Business Administration from the University of Colorado.

In addition to commercial real estate brokerage and investing, Eric is an experienced business owner with five Smoothie King locations across Louisiana and Texas. His background as an entrepreneur, investor, and property owner gives him a unique understanding of commercial real estate from the client's perspective. With seven years of experience as a licensed real estate professional, Eric brings together a strong background in finance, business ownership, and real estate investment. This combination allows him to approach transactions from both a financial and operational perspective, helping clients evaluate opportunities, navigate complex transactions, negotiate effectively, and make informed real estate decisions that support their long-term business and investment goals.
