ABOUT

Surprising people with creative unorthodox approaches to problems while moving people to act towards a solution. Prior to opening CENCOR Consulting Group and becoming licensed as a real estate agent, I worked to locate two (2) 400+ jobs facilities into a rural/semi-urban area of Louisiana and oversaw most aspects of these projects through to completion. These areas included new employee recruitment, government financial assistance, construction, vendor support, training, and site analysis.

Additionally, I assisted with the expansion of several businesses in a rural/semi-urban area of Louisiana, negotiating incentives, developing training and recruitment plan for new employees and working to determine additional needs of the companies. I have also authored and lobbied State legislation to assist with business retention and expansion.

I represent several clients who specialize in retail/office leasing and development. I most recently represented International Paper in their disposition of the former industrial site in Pineville, LA.

I was selected as the 2011 REALTOR Of The Year for the Central Louisiana Board of REALTORS. In 2015 I was honored with the Mary Jo Hanover Award for outstanding achievement in economic development by the Louisiana Industrial Executives Association.

Specialties: Incentive analysis, site location analysis, governmental relations, workforce development, business development, market research.
